Rebalance Talk: Facilitating firms to implement the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights: Views from practice

Andrea has been with GBI since 2011, first as an Advisor and since January 2019 as Chair.

Andrea has worked in business and human rights for nearly 20 years. She began as Legal Advisor at Amnesty International UK and the International Commission of Jurists focusing on business, human rights and investment, before taking on the role of Legal Advisor to John Ruggie, the-then UN Special Representative of the Secretary General for Business on Human Rights (SRSG). In that capacity, Andrea led the SRSG's work on investment contracts and treaties, advised him on international human rights, humanitarian and criminal law issues and participated in the drafting of the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights.

Andrea went on to establish and lead the Investment & Human Rights Project at the London School of Economics until 2016. Andrea is a US-trained lawyer and began her legal career as an employment and labour lawyer for a management-side law firm. She has an MSc from the London School of Economics in Human Rights. Andrea regularly teaches business and human rights and guest lectures at graduate and law schools.
